A Unicorn for Olaf

Olaf loves to read, so he spends a lot of time in the castle library. One day, a book with a golden unicorn on the cover draws his attention, so he settles on the couch with Sven and reads the story aloud. It is about a beautiful unicorn that lives in a magical forest. "Wouldn't it be great to see a real unicorn?" asks Olaf. Sven grunts in agreement.

"Now... where would I live if I were a magical horse with a horn on my forehead?" asks Olaf. Sven looks thoughtful. "Of course," Olaf says. "I would live in a beautiful forest with lots of flowers and trees!

Do we know any forests like that, Sven?" The reindeer nods happily. "Oh, you're right!" Olaf gasps. "The Enchanted Forest! I'm sure there's a unicorn living there! Come on, let's go, my friend!"

When Olaf and Sven arrive in the Enchanted Forest, they meet Elsa. She's kneeling under a big tree, petting a baby reindeer. "What a nice surprise!" she exclaims. Olaf tells her that they are on an important quest. He leans in and whispers, "We're looking for a unicorn. Do you know where we can find one?" "I don't, but I would love to help you look," says the Snow Queen.

"Let's see. What do unicorns like best? Green grass? Leafy trees? Big rocks?" Elsa asks Olaf. "Hmmm..." The snowman is thoughtful. "I think they like all of those. They love nature, just like us!" Then he starts leading the way down a grassy slope. "Let's go. I'm sure we'll meet a unicorn soon!" "Okay, we'll follow you!" Elsa exclaims, smiling at Sven.

After a short walk, the group comes upon the Earth Giants, the biggest elemental spirits of the forest. The snowman looks up at them and waves. "Hi, we're looking for a unicorn. Have you ever seen one? It has a big horn on its forehead and likes hiding behind the trees," he tells them happily. The Earth Giants just stare at him, looking a little bit puzzled.

Suddenly, Olaf has an idea and waves again to draw the Earth Giants' attention. "You're so tall!" he says. "Maybe you can help us get a better view so we can see if there's a unicorn around." The Earth Giants understand, and one of them opens his big rocky hand to let them climb. "Thanks," Elsa says. "That's really kind of you!" "Hooray! This is so exciting!" Olaf exclaims.

The snowman giggles as the Earth Giant lifts him, Elsa, and Sven high into the sky. The forest looks amazing from above! "It's like flying over the trees!" comments Olaf, but when he looks down below, he can't spot any unicorn. "I can't see one either!" Elsa says, looking a bit sorry. Just then, the snowman points at a big white cloud. "That looks like a unicorn!" he exclaims cheerfully.

"I know, but it's just a cloud, Olaf," Elsa tells him. "Maybe we should look somewhere else! Could you set us back down, please?" Olaf asks the Earth Giant. The giant puts them down, and suddenly... whoosh! Gale, the Wind Spirit, blows by, tickling Olaf's snow. "I think someone else wants to help," he giggles. "Do you like unicorns, Gale?"

In reply, the Wind Spirit starts blowing faster and whips around Olaf's twig hair, swirling it like a nice unicorn horn. "Wow! Now I look like a snow unicorn! Thanks, Gale!" Olaf comments happily.

Then Gale begins to lead them through the green forest, blowing leaves to show them the way. Olaf, Elsa, and Sven have to work hard to keep up with the Wind Spirit. "Slow down, Gale! We're not as fast as you!" Elsa says.

Finally, they stop in a big open meadow bursting with colorful flowers. Just then, Olaf notices some butterflies fluttering around and a few snails in the grass. "This looks like a good spot for a unicorn. They love snails and butterflies," he whispers to Elsa and Sven. "I read that in my book!" Suddenly, they hear a rustling noise, and something moves inside a flower patch!

“Please be a unicorn, please be a unicorn!” Olaf chants as he creeps over to take a look. Then he peers among some purple flowers, and... he sees his friend Bruni, the Fire Spirit! What a surprise!

Bruni joins immediately in the quest and points out some big hoofprints in the mud. “Wow! Those could be unicorn tracks! Thanks, Bruni!” Olaf says, beaming. “Let’s follow them. I’m sure we’ll find a unicorn soon!”

Olaf starts running excitedly. “Wait for me!” Elsa says, trying to catch up with Olaf, Gale, and Bruni. They all follow the mysterious tracks through some shrubs and around a giant oak tree. “Maybe the unicorn is hiding behind that big trunk! I read that unicorns are a bit shy and like to play hide-and-seek...”

All the Sounds of Nature

Elsa is immersed in the harmony of the forest, listening to the sounds of nature that fill the air. There's such an incredible variety of melodies that it's almost as if a huge orchestra is playing!

An Outdoor Concert

TRACE and COLOR the storm cloud, the bird, the wind, and the rain, and see how our friends reproduce their sounds using musical instruments.

Special Music

Elsa's listening to the sounds that surround her and trying to pick out the notes. SPOT the only note that doesn't match among the jumble and COLOR it IN.

It's Raining!

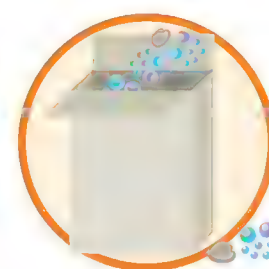

The sound of the rain is so calming! It's got a relaxing beat that can be easily re-created using things you can find around the house or in your garden. Follow these STEPS to build your own rain box.

YOU'LL NEED:

- Juice carton
- Poster paint
- Paintbrush
- Safety scissors
- Masking tape
- Beads and pebbles
- Glitter

Use safety scissors to CUT open an empty juice carton. Small single-portion cartons work best. WASH it thoroughly and let dry.

PLACE beads inside the box. You can also use pebbles that you find outdoors. WASH them OFF before placing them inside.

TAPE the box shut with masking tape. Apply a coat of white poster paint and let dry. Then PAINT over it with any colors you like. ADD some glitter for a sparkling effect.

Lots of Fun in Nature

Warm, sunny days are perfect for long walks in the great outdoors! Anna, Elsa, and Olaf enjoy the wonders of nature and make up new games together.

Natural Hearts

Olaf has a new game to play with Anna and Elsa: the goal is to find heart-shaped things in nature. Join the fun and see which flowers, plants, animals, stones, and even clouds look like hearts. COUNT them all and WRITE the numbers in the blanks!

Flower Hunt

Now let's try a harder game. FIND the spot in the meadow containing the correct number of each of these flowers. Will it be A, B, C, or D?

Guess the Path

In the nearby pond, a mother duck needs to swim back to her ducklings. Help her FIND OUT which path she must take.

DIY Felt Flowers

Be inspired by the beauty of nature in bloom to make these pretty flower bracelets for you and your friends.

You'll Need

- COLORED FELT
- WHITE MARKER
- SAFETY SCISSORS
- ALL-PURPOSE GLUE
- MASKING TAPE
- CUTOUTS FROM THE INSIDE BACK COVER
- COLORED RIBBONS

1 CUT OUT the rectangular pattern from the inside back cover and tape it to a piece of felt. TRACE around the edges with a white marker, then cut it out.

2 FOLD the felt and the pattern in half, as shown, and tape the two ends together. CUT along the white lines.

3 Remove the pattern and GLUE the two long ends together. Then apply glue to the outer edge and ROLL the base to form a flower.

4 THREAD two ribbons through opposite petals. CUT OUT the medallion from the inside back cover, glue it to one of the ribbons, then tie the ribbons together. Your bracelet is ready!

Friend in Sight

In the distance, Elsa spots a friendly bird who's at home by the sea. COLOR the dotted sections to see this beautiful seagull.

A Natural Kaleidoscope

On a day as clear as this, the colors are so bright that they recall the variety of shades in a kaleidoscope. All that harmony puts Anna and Elsa under its spell! Complete the kaleidoscope by ASSIGNING each letter a color, then FILLING IN the lettered spaces according to your palette!

But... when Olaf, Elsa, and Bruni finally reach the last set of hoofprints, they see... Sven! He wandered off in search of a snack, but the others were so busy with their quest that they didn't notice him leaving. Olaf is a bit disappointed, but then he has an idea!

"Maybe if we were with a unicorn, another one would come out to say hello," he reasons. Then he turns to Elsa and whispers his new plan. Elsa smiles, and... she waves her arms, sending her sparkling magic toward Sven.

Now Sven has a perfect ice horn protruding from his forehead. Olaf admires Elsa's work, looking proud. "Plan Sven-icorn is going to work," he says, giving the reindeer a pat on the back. "I can feel it." "Yes, but Sven doesn't seem so happy about his horn," Elsa comments with a smile, looking at their puzzled reindeer friend.

Later, as they pass the creek, Olaf sees something reflected in the crystal-clear water's surface: a majestic horse with a long horn! "Come and see! I've found a unicorn!" he yells excitedly to the others.

Then he turns around to see... the Water Nokk! Its reflection looked like a unicorn's because of a pointed tree branch behind it. "Oh! You really looked like a unicorn... Maybe if the real unicorn sees you, it will come closer!" Olaf says, hopeful.

So the Water Spirit joins the group in their search, but it has been a long day, and Olaf is tired. "I don't know," he says, a bit discouraged. "Maybe we should go home!" "Come on," Elsa says encouragingly. "We still have time before it gets dark." Luckily, Olaf agrees and climbs on Sven's back with Bruni. Then the group continues to search, heading toward the Dark Sea.

When they reach the shoreline, Olaf turns to his friends. "Thanks for coming with me, everyone," he says. "I'm sorry we didn't find a unicorn..." "Olaf!" Elsa interrupts him. "It's okay, Elsa," says Olaf. "I'm not sad, because—" "Olaf!" Elsa insists, pointing at the sea. "Elsa," says Olaf, "I'm trying to share my feelings here, and you keep—"

Finally, she turns him around so he can look out to the sea, and... Olaf gasps as he sees what the rest of them have been staring at: a long spiraling horn emerging from the waves!

"But... I thought unicorns lived in the forest, not underwater!" he exclaims, looking puzzled. "Maybe that unicorn loves to swim! Let's see if it comes out..." Elsa says hopefully.

Suddenly, the creature leaps above the surface of the water. "It's not a unicorn," says Olaf. "It's a narwhal!" Elsa sighs. "Oh, Olaf, I'm sorry. I thought it could be—" But Olaf turns to the group, wearing a bright smile. "The narwhal is the unicorn of the sea! We found one!" The group watches the narwhal in awe as it swims off into the distance. Then they head back to the forest.

Olaf and Sven thank Elsa and the elemental spirits for the amazing day they spent together. Then they go back to the castle, where they find Anna and Kristoff waiting for them. "I was wondering where you guys were," says Anna. "Are we going to have story time?" "Yes, and I'll tell tonight's story. It's a true adventure," says Olaf. "And it begins with me and Sven looking for a real unicorn." Although Olaf's day was really busy, he can't wait to share his tale with his amazing friends.

Mysterious Creatures

Olaf has found a very interesting book about unicorns, and he's decided to look for one in the forest. He can't wait to meet up with this magical animal.

An In-Depth Study

Olaf has learned all about unicorns from the book he read. TAKE a look at one of its illustrations, then SPOT the only detail that does not belong to this magical creature.

Where Could He Be Hiding?

Olaf thinks there's a point in the forest where he's likely to spot a unicorn. He zooms in on it with his spyglass. ARRANGE the images he sees, from the farthest away to the closest.

What Animal Is It?

Soon an animal appears in the forest. Could it be a unicorn? No, it's Sven, up to his usual pranks! TAKE a look at the shadows and SPOT the one that matches this lovable reindeercorn!

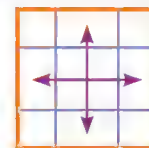

The Seasons Game

There's something special about every season. It's nice to observe how nature transforms itself through the year. Play this board game and help the characters reach a season they love.

How to Play

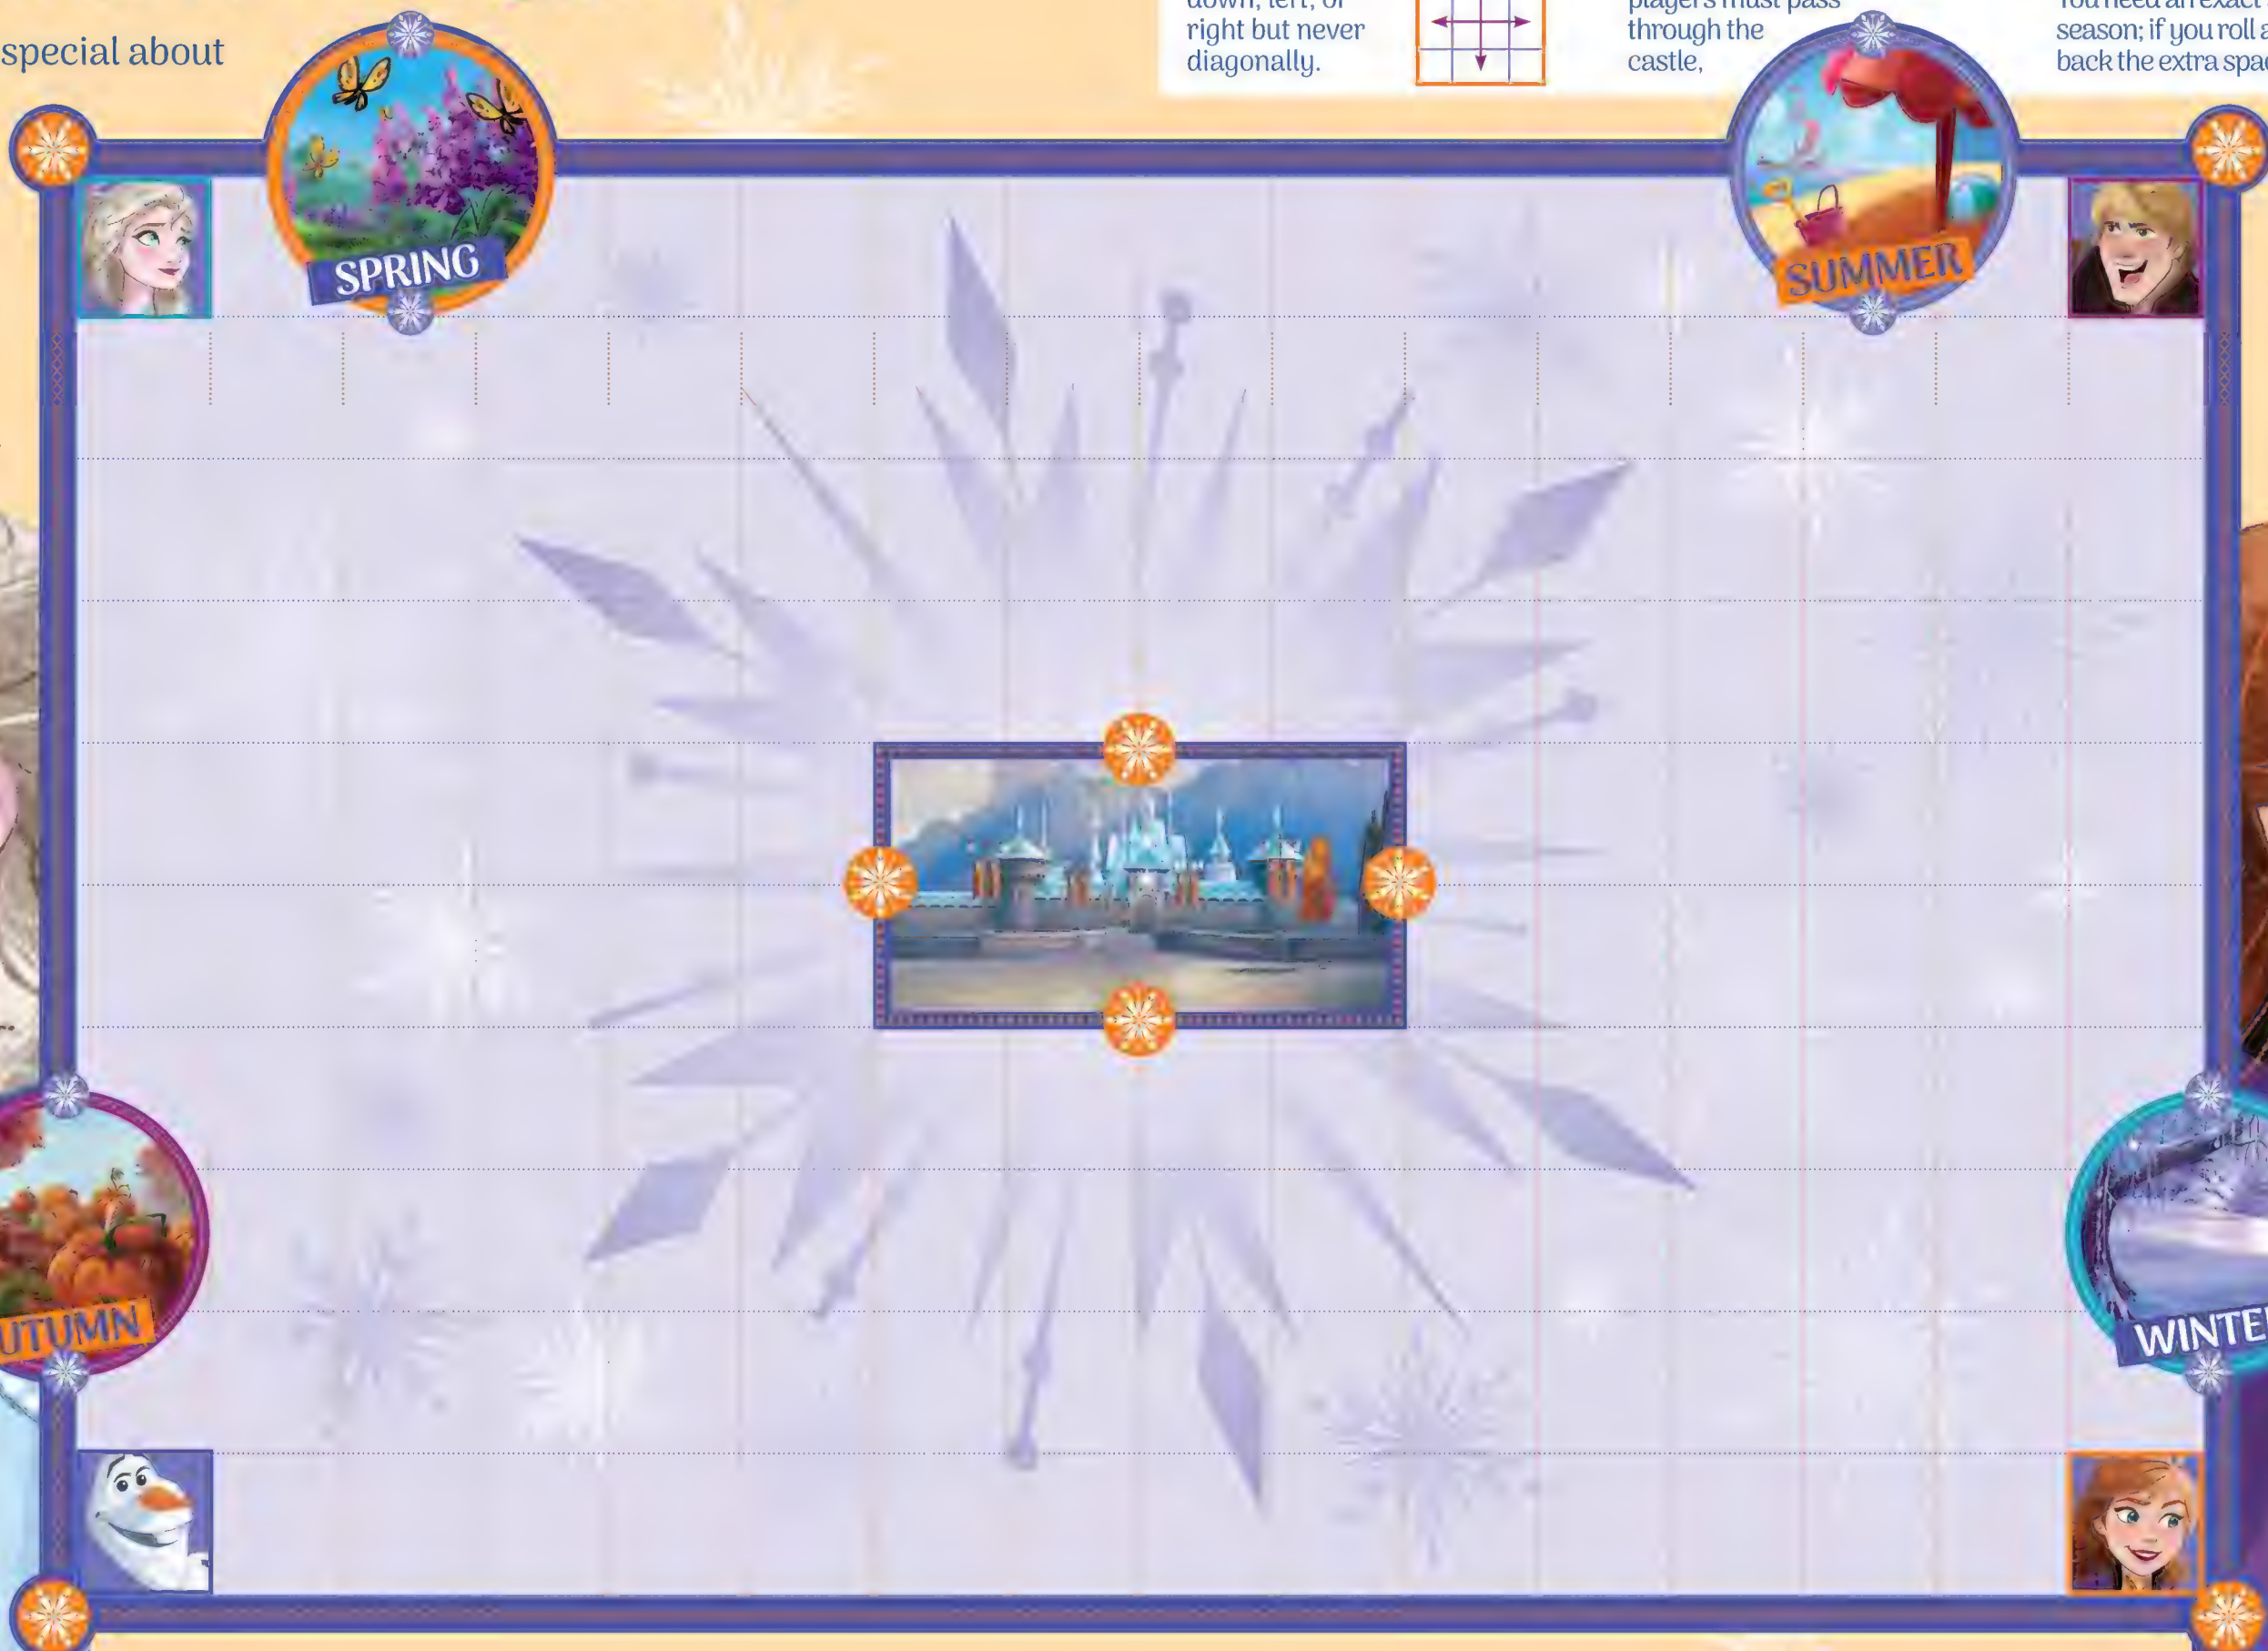

A game for 2, 3, or 4 players.
PLACE a token for each player on the corresponding space. Players take turns ROLLING the die and moving either up, down, left, or right but never diagonally.

The object is to be the first to reach your character's favorite season: Elsa—winter; Kristoff—autumn; Olaf—summer; Anna—spring. On the way to their favorite seasons, players must pass through the castle, which has to be considered a single space. Attention: the points where you choose to enter and exit the castle are important, because they can make the distance to your season either shorter or longer. You need an exact roll to LAND on your season; if you roll a higher number, go back the extra spaces.

A Blaze of Colors

In the Enchanted Forest, Elsa loves to stop and gaze at the world around her. It's filled with flowers, trees, and animals. What a pleasure it is to be caught up in the array of colors that surrounds her. Olaf, Bruni, and Sven enjoy the natural palette as well!

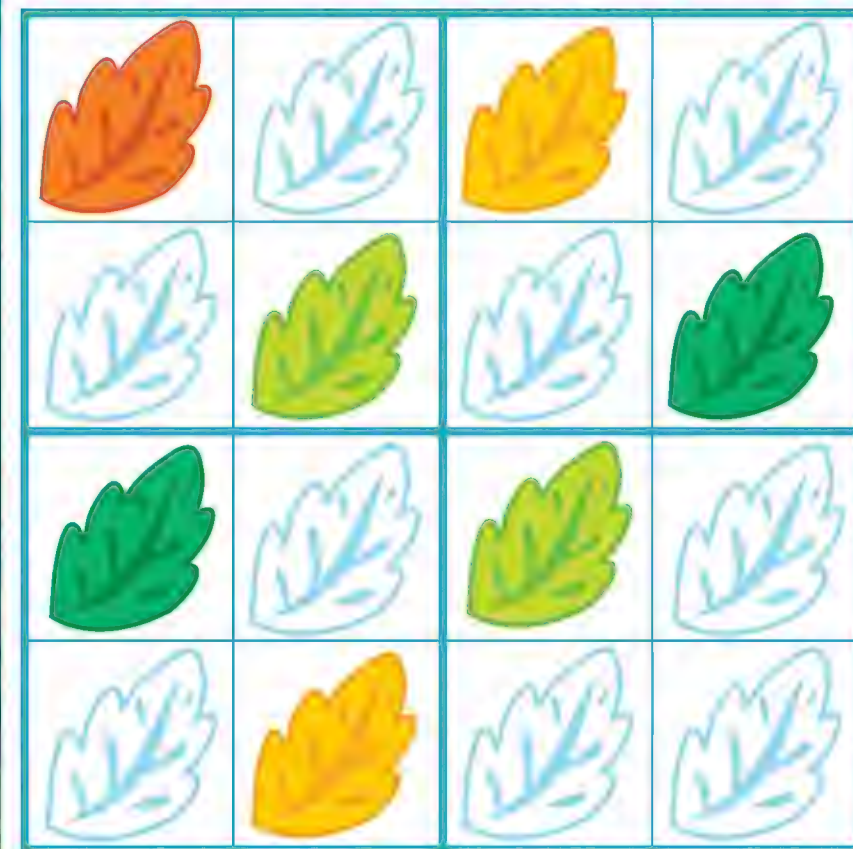

Flowers Everywhere!

It's an incredible display of beauty in all these flowers! TRACE the dotted lines to complete this one-of-a-kind floral carpet. Then COLOR the flowers IN with lots of little dots.

Swirling Leaves

Suddenly, Elsa and her friends spot colored streaks in the air. What could they be? Of course: it's Gale moving the leaves. COLOR them all, different in each row, column, and mini-grid.

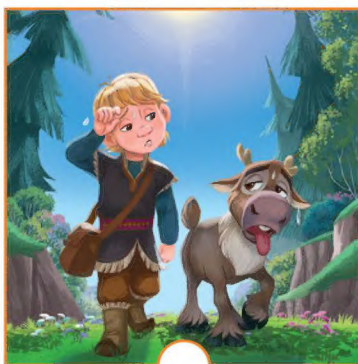

Beautiful Little Creatures

No two butterflies are exactly alike. Olaf and Bruni are fascinated by them! CUT OUT the missing pieces from the inside back cover and GLUE them on where they belong. Then color them any way you like.

While walking in the woods, our friends come across a pretty little lake that holds lovely memories and precious discoveries to share.

One very hot day, little Kristoff found the perfect way to cool off. Sven got a kick out of seeing him jump in the lake... and he got soaked too! PUT the four scenes below in the right order.

Anna used to love spending time at the fountain in Arendelle. She went there with her father, King Agnarr, and they had fun racing paper boats.

COUNT the squares to see which boat is the fastest and crosses the finish line first.

Olaf knows that water can turn to ice and steam. Whatever form it's in, water is a precious and fascinating resource. FILL IN the blank in each row with the missing form.
